MARINE BAND TO PLAY HERE

Will Give Concert in Auditorium.

Big Musical Organization Secured For Concert on September Fifteenth Under Auspices of Chamber of Commerce and Auditorium Company—Forty Five Pieces in Organization—Event Will Be Extensively Advertised.

The United States Marine Band has been secured to come here and give a concert in the Auditorium. This big musical organization will be here on the evening of September 15 under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce and the Auditorium Company, the contract having been signed by Secretary McLean in Washington Wednesday.

This band has a world-wide reputation and can leave Washington only by consent of the Secretary of the Navy. It will be absent from the National capital for a week. The arrangements were all perfected by Mr. McLean while in Washington for the concert to be given here. The band will also give a concert in Richmond, Va.

The auditorium will be cleaned up and everything gotten in readiness for the occasion, which will indeed be a notable one. There is no building more suitable for a band concert than the auditorium as has been demonstrated heretofore. The admission has not been fixed, but the price will be low enough for everybody to have a chance of attending the concert. The event will be extensively advertised in this and the neighboring cities and towns and it is hoped to fill the mammoth building.

This organization was in Greensboro some fifteen years ago as many will probably remember and was heard by an enormous crowd, the concert being given in the old baseball park. Of course, there are many new faces in the present organization, but the National band has been greatly improved and strengthened and the quality of music now rendered is far superior to that of the old organization. This is the band that gives concerts on the White House lawn during summer months and is the official music dispenser at national functions.

JAMES STALEY CAUGHT.

Man Who Wounded Deputy Marshal Reese Two Years Ago In Toils of Law. On train 22 yesterday was Deputy Sheriff Bingham, of Davidson county, who was carrying to Raleigh James Staley, the noted blockader, who two years ago shot and seriously wounded Deputy United States Marshal H. C. Reese, of the Eastern district. Staley was arrested at his home in Jackson Hill early yesterday morning by the officer. He had been living there for some months under the name of Will Wilburn. The officers had gone after him repeatedly, but could not find him.

Deputy Marshal Reese and Deputy Collectors Holland, Poole and Rosser, of the Eastern district, found Staley at his still near Spout Springs in March 1908. The blockader with a Winchester shot the deputy marshal and escaped, despite the fact that he was twice wounded by bullets from the revolvers of the remainder of the party. The still was destroyed. A reward of $150 was offered for Staley's arrest and this will be claimed by Deputy Bingham.

Deputy Marshal Reese recovered from his wounds, but will be a cripple for life, his left arm being useless.

Wicker is attending the sessions and instructing the members in the work.

RODE IN BOX CAR.

Passengers on Mixed Train Have Novel Experience Near University Station.

Passengers on the mixed train running from Chapel Hill to University Station yesterday had the novel experience of riding a portion of the distance in a box car. Some of the Greensboro people who happened on the train were telling of the occurrence on their return at noon yesterday.

With about fifty passengers on board the train pulled out of Chapel Hill on schedule time, but when about six miles from University Station two trucks of one of the cars for some reason jumped the track and ran on the crossties for some distance before the train was stopped, the track being completely blocked. Luckily one empty box car, the one next the engine, remained on the track and the quick witted conductor in a few minutes transferred his passengers into the empty box car and carried them to the station in ample time to catch the westbound train for Greensboro and other points. The box cars were left to be put on the track by the wrecking crew.

In the rush and excitement the Jim Crow law was utterly ignored and white and colored passengers were crowded into the only available car, which had not been intended for passenger service and therefore was minus the accommodations to be found in Pullmans. However, the passengers raised no kick, but on the other hand they were profuse in their thanks to the conductor who managed to get them to the destination of the train in time to catch the passenger train going west.

No one was hurt by the derailment, all the passenger coaches remaining on the track.

AT THE GRAND.

Number of Famous Stars to Appear Here This Season—Some of the Attractions.

Never before has the management of The Grand secured such a line of attractions as they will be able to offer the public during the coming season. The local theatre goers will benefit by the big theatrical war that is being waged between the trust and the independents, the Grand following the "open door" policy and booking from both the trust and their opponents. This season such stars as James T. Powers, Frank Daniels, Lulu Glaser, Mary Manning and Dust in Farnum will play the Grand a visit. There will also be a larger number of the better musical shows that will visit Greensboro this season than heretofore. The following attractions will be here within the next few weeks:

"The Soul Kiss," a big musical show, "Girl with the Taxicab," James T. Powers in "Havanna," Frank Daniels in a new musical show, "The Merry Widow," "Blue Mouse" Daisy Cameron in "Nancy," Mary Manning in "A Man's World," "Girls of the U. S. A." a new musical show, "Cat and the Fiddle," "The Cow and the Moon," a new musical show just put on the road by the author and same cast that played the "Cat and the Fiddle" here last season, "Stampede," Thomas Dixon's new play "Sins of the Father," "Gentleman from Mississippi," "Girls" a musical show, "Beulah," "Lulu's Husband," Dust in Farnum in "Cameo Kirby," Al G. Field's Minstrels and Vogel's Minstrels. These are all the contracts that Manager Tate's agents have signed but negotiations are now on for a number of other of the best attractions that will tour the South this season.

GOTTWALS CABINET COMPANY TO START OPERATIONS SOON

Mr. Gottwals Arrived Yesterday—Machinery Being Unloaded.

Mr. W. O. Gottwals, the new general manager of the Greensboro Furniture Manufacturing Company, arrived in the city yesterday.

The machinery for the plant is on the siding at the factory and unloading of it will commence today. Mr. Gottwals says that the plant will start up not later than Sept. 15. Filing cabinets and office fixtures will be manufactured.

Mr. Gottwals is for the present boarding at Mrs. Moore's on West Sycamore street, but he expects to be joined by his family soon.

TENANTS OF FISHER BUILDING MOVING IN.

The tenants of the new Fisher building began moving in yesterday. All the building has been rented except one office and one store and several parties are considering them. The Greensboro Life Insurance Company, Justice and Broadhurst, Dr. J. H. Wheeler, Hadley and Crouse, American Realty and Auction Company, Gate City Building and Loan Association and Chisholm and Clark moved into the new building yesterday.

Before Judge Eure.

In Municipal Court yesterday morning Mary Liz Johnson and Mattie King, colored, were tried on the charge of assault. The former assaulted a negro with a razor some days ago and for this offense she was sent to the workhouse for ninety days. Mattie King, who assaulted a Hairston woman last Saturday night, was given ninety days in the workhouse also.

Your clothes repaired, cleaned and pressed right at Economy Pressing Club. Phone 350.

its passage it must be repealed or submitted to the people at an election called for that purpose or at a general election, if one is to be held within ninety days. Twenty-five per cent. of the people can petition the passage of an ordinance and the board of commissioners must either pass it or submit the question of its passage to a vote of the people.

Machinery is provided in detail for working out in a practical way all the plans for the commission form of government.

The advantages of this form of government are thought to be that it puts the people actually and not merely theoretically in charge of the city's affairs. It also places the responsibility on four men and divides the responsibility up so if anything goes wrong it is easy to locate the blame on one man. It also requires the entire time of each of the commissioners for his public duties so that he is in a position to do the best he is capable of doing. It is thought that the saving under this system of government will be much more than the salaries paid the commissioners.

THE CHICAGO GLEE CLUB IS IN THE LYCEUM COURSE

By Many It Is Considered Without An Equal In Lyceum Work.

The most of us can recall some particular voice whose melody penetrated the heart like a spirit from another world, moving our emotions and inspiring our souls as no other force ever has, or does. The human voice in song, in its scope and its power, is indeed, wonderful. It is a gift of God to benighted and struggling souls down here. It is soul speaking to soul, and for that reason men have travelled many miles to listen to some rare, cultured voice, speaking in song.

In quartet work the male voice seems to be the most popular. The explanation of this has not been fathomed, but it is true that the male quartet is the most popular musical aggregation before the public. And there are just a few real, first class male quartets—that is, quartets that are recognized as being among the best—without superiors.

In the lyceum field, which is doubtless the largest field in our country today, there are three male quartets which are recognized as being the very best. These three are the Whitney Brothers, Dunbar Brothers and the Chicago Glee Club. By many the Chicago Glee Club are considered without an equal.

The mayor will have charge of the department of finance and public accounts and it will be his duty to see that all accounts are published periodically and that all books are properly kept. He will be the purchasing agent for the city and everything bought will be purchased through him, but the board of commissioners will pass upon what is to be bought and give orders and will also audit his accounts before vouchers are issued. The mayor will also be tax collector and chief executive officer.

Another official will be the commissioner of public safety, who will have charge of the health, police and fire department. Another official will have charge of the water and light department. The other commissioner will be the commissioner of streets, cemeteries, parks and public buildings. Each commissioner will be under the general supervision of the board of commissioners as a whole, but at the same time will be directly responsible to the people for the affairs in their several departments.

The commissioners will be elected by the people in the following manner: Eight days before the election a legal primary will be held at which any person qualified to hold office can become a candidate for any office on payment of $5 to the city to help defray the expenses of the primary. This will entitle him to have his name on the ticket as candidate for the particular office he aspires to fill. At the election only the two highest persons voted for in the primary for any particular office can be voted for.

Any person elected to any office may be recalled or removed from it before his term of office expires as follows: If twenty-five percent. of the registered voters of the city petition his removal the board must order another primary in which he will be a candidate, together with any other person who may aspire to fill the unexpired term. If no one receives a majority of the votes cast in the primary then the two highest shall be voted for at another election. The person who receives the majority in the primary or the election shall be declared to be elected for the unexpired term of the person sought to be recalled.

It is not thought that the power of recall will be exercised often as the experience in other cities where it is used shows it is not often exercised, but it is regarded as very valuable to have this power vested in the people as it tends to make officers more faithful in performing their duties.

No franchise can be granted except by vote of the people and no election on a franchise can be held without the person asking for the franchise pays the expense of the election.

No ordinance, except certain emergency ordinances, can become effective until after twenty days from their passage. If within twenty days from the time an ordinance is passed twenty-five per cent. of the voters protest against

CHAMPS WIN A DOUBLE-HEADER

Took Both Games From Greenville.

The Pennant Winners Not Allowed to Score a Single Tally—Champs Off to Winston For the Final Games of Season—Spartanburg Working For Fourth Place—How They Stand.

The few valedictory remarks that the former Champs delivered yesterday afternoon were very pleasing but there is still the regret that they did not start the winning streak just about four months earlier. There will be no more professional ball at the local park this season, the double-header yesterday ending the season here.

Walters defeated the Stouchmen in the first game by keeping the six hits that he allowed well scattered and by settling down at several points in the game. The Champs gave him good support, only one error being charged against them and it was not costly.

The Greenville players were playing out of position but that did not prevent them from putting up a snappy game.

The single run of the game was made in the first inning in this manner: Rickard is out on a grounder to Wingo at second. Fuller doubles and scores on Doak's hot one to third which Jenkins fields too late and throws wild. Bentley fans field too late and throws wild. Bentley fans and Clapp flies out to center. Runs 1, hits 2, errors 1.

MADE HIS TOWN "WET;" NOW HE QUILTS PULPIT.

Dr. Wasson, Head of No-License Fight in Riverhead, L. I., Preaches Last Sermon.

New York, Aug. 29.—"The Wet Person" of Riverhead, L. I., the Rev. Dr. William A. Wasson, yesterday morning preached his farewell sermon as rector of Grace Protestant Episcopal church there. He did more than anybody else to change Riverhead from a "dry" to a license town in the spring elections of 1909. He sent in his resignation to Bishop Burgess last May to take effect September 1.

Dr. Wasson in his sermon yesterday again stated his position in regard to prohibition. He told the parishioners that he was not really preaching a farewell sermon, as he was only retiring to his farm at Mattituck and expected to speak in the Grace pulpit sometimes.

"I am resigning so that I may have more time to fight the prohibition propaganda, which is unscriptural, unchristian and tyrannical," he said. "I know my public utterances have been distasteful to some of you, but I stand for justice and honesty. I will not be afraid to assert my honest convictions, even if I have to crack the stones in the street in order to make a living."

"There is a great work for the church to do in exposing and combating the reign of terror which the Prohibition propaganda will bring about. Henceforth I will give my time and thought to fighting prohibition. I will advocate true temperance, which means moderation and self control. I will devote my whole time to writing and lecturing along those lines."

Dr. Wasson caused an outcry two years ago in church and temperance circles when he openly announced himself in favor of licensing liquor selling. The campaign the following spring was exciting. Both sides called names and Dr. Wasson was denounced from the pulpits of other churches and by W. C. T. U. members.

In his letter of resignation the clergymen said that he felt he was called to a greater field and a greater work than a local rectory could afford.

"The poisonous influence of this human temperance is more disastrous than that of drunkenness," he wrote, "for the latter is seen and known for what it is, whereas the Prohibition propaganda in the livery of heaven."

Bishop Burgess in accepting the resignation upheld the position taken by the rector. He said that he was opposed to prohibition.

Dr. Wasson and his brother are working on a book which, he says, will effectively expose the falsity of the prohibition movement." The license question comes up again in Riverhead next spring, and Dr. Wasson will do his utmost to keep the town "wet."

CLEANLY WOMAN.

Erroneously Thinks by Scouring Her Scalp That She Cures Dandruff.

Cleanly woman has an erroneous idea that by scouring the scalp, which removes the dandruff scale, she is curing the dandruff. QUEER NATURAL HISTORY.

Some Curious Eighteenth Century Descriptions of Animals.

Some curious specimens of folklore and natural history are contained in a rare book called "The Sportsman's Dictionary," which was published toward the end of the eighteenth century. The author was evidently a Philistine among Philistines in his attitude toward nature.

Of the master musician, the blackbird, he says:

"This bird is known by all persons and is better to be eaten than kept, being much sweeter to the palate when dead and well roasted than to the ear while living; sings about three months in the year, or four at most, though his song is worth nothing, but if he be taught to whistle he is of some value, being very loud, though coarse."

And here is a story of the squirrel with the ring in it of the seventeenth even more than the eighteenth century. It reminds one of the hares of Izak Walton, that changed their sexes once a year:

"If what is reported of them be true the admirable cunning of the squirrel appears in her (where we commonly use 'his' when the sex need not be specified) our ancestors often used her swimming or passing over a river, for when she is constrained by hunger so to do she seeks out some kind or small bark of a tree, which she sets upon the water and then goes into it, and, holding up her tail like a sail, lets the wind drive her to the other side and carries meat in her mouth to prevent being famished by the length of the voyage."

Of the wild boar we have this: "And what place soever he bites, whether man or dog, the heat of his teeth causes inflammation in the wound. If therefore he does but touch the hair of a dog he burns off—nay, huntsmen have tried the heat of his teeth by laying hairs on them as soon as he was dead, and they have shriveled up as if touched with a hot iron."

HIS EASY JOB.

A RELIABLE MEDICINE—NOT A NARCOTIC.

Mrs. F. Marti, St. Joe, Mich., says Foley's Honey and Tar saved her little boy's life. She writes: "Our little boy contracted a severe bronchial trouble and as the doctor's medicine did not cure him, I gave him Foley's Honey and Tar in which I have great faith. It cured the cough as well as the choking and gagging spells, and he got well in a short time. Foley's Honey and Tar has many times saved us much trouble and we are never without it in the house." WHAT SHE KNEW ABOUT LAW

By ANNA MARSH

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

There was a ring at the doorbell of Mr. Silas Bentley's residence. The butler went to the door, and a man asked to see Mr. Bentley if he was at home and Mrs. Bentley if he was not at home. Mrs. Bentley went down into the hall where the man was waiting.

"I'm a constable, ma'am, and have been sent by the court to make a search for certain papers required in the case of Perkins versus Bentley."

Throwing back his coat, he showed a badge, then took a paper from his pocket, which he presented as a search warrant. Mrs. Bentley knew nothing of the badge and was not sufficiently versed in court procedure to discover if the search warrant was in form. She knew that her husband was being sued by his ex-partner in business, and she considered the said ex-partner a rascal. She gave no thought to the genuineness of the warrant. She concentrated her mind upon the problem of circumventing the search. Her husband had told her to keep the papers in question where they would not be readily found, since it was important for his own side of the suit that they be not produced in court except upon the choosing of his own counsel.

"Please wait a moment," she said and turned to go into the library, when the man stopped her.

"I can't let you go and hide the papers," he said.

"Very well. I merely wish to consult my brother." Then, calling "Will!" a young man of serious and intellectual mien appeared. Mrs. Bentley told him of the search warrant. He examined it, pronounced it an order from the court and, taking his sister aside, warned her not to refuse the man permission to make the search, since she might render herself liable to severe punishment if she did—perhaps imprisonment.

"I don't believe he's an officer of the court at all," said Mrs. Bentley.

"Why not?" asked her brother.

"Well, I don't know. His nose is crooked, and there is a cast in his eye."

"That's a pretty reason. Do as you please, but if you get imprisoned for contempt of court don't blame me."

"I won't," said Mrs. Bentley.

Mrs. Bentley told the constable to make the search. He went upstairs, she following. When he entered a bedroom to search it he ordered her to remain outside in such commanding tones that she obeyed. Finally he came to a closet wherein was kept the family silver not in use. An iron door had been put in to make it doubly safe. It was locked. The man demanded the key. Mrs. Bentley produced it. The man opened the door and went inside. Mrs. Bentley closed it and turned the key. Then she went downstairs and told her brother what she had done.

He informed her that she had certainly been guilty of contempt of court. Mrs. Bentley, without heeding him, went to the telephone, called up her husband, and told him what she had done. Mr. Bentley telephoned his lawyer, and the lawyer telephoned the clerk of the court, but found no one who knew anything about the search warrant.

"I thought he was a fraud," said Mrs. Bentley to her husband over the phone.

"Why so?"

"I don't know. I didn't like the looks of his nose, and he squints."

She heard laughter through the receiver.

"Well," said Mr. Bentley, "keep him where he is, and I'll come right up. I'll bring a policeman."

Mr. Bentley soon appeared with a genuine cop. They all went to the closet and unlocked the door, and out stepped the constable.

"My eye!" exclaimed the cop. "It isn't Joe Green, alias Tom Dugan, alias several other names."

"I told you so," said Mrs. Bentley.

"Look at his pockets," said the cop.

They were bulging with the jewelry Mr. Green had picked up while in the bedrooms. You didn't know him for what he is, did you, ma'am?"

"No, but I didn't believe he was what he pretended to be."

"Why not?"

"Don't you see," Mr. Bentley put in, "that his nose isn't straight and he's cross eyed. That's how she spotted him. She's no good for logic, but she hits right conclusions."

Mr. Green was removed to the station house, where he explained that he had seen in the morning paper that there was a dispute about certain documents in the case of Perkins versus Bentley, and it had occurred to him that the circumstances furnished a chance for a stroke of genius. Having had a great deal to do with courts (though they were the criminal courts), he knew enough to perpetrate the fraud. Possessing himself of a blank search warrant, he filled it up himself, and, borrowing a fireman's badge, he considered himself well equipped to play the part of constable. It was only Mrs. Bentley's peculiar method of determining the difference between a thief and a constable that spoiled his game.

Mr. Bentley's brother, who had pronounced the search warrant genuine, became a lawyer. Mr. Bentley always insisted that Mrs. Bentley could tell more about law by the twist in a man's nose and a cast in his eye than her brother could tell by a legal docu-

About a year ago there was quite an agitation here for a better lighted Elm street. A whole year of 12 months, 52 weeks, 365 days has passed. Greensboro's main thoroughfare is still the "great dark way."

Col. Roosevelt is advocating publicity of campaign contributions not only after election but before election as well. The Colonel didn't advocate such publicity prior to the election of 1904, it will be remembered.

If Mr. Roosevelt keeps on talking about his personal reformation of the country, he may bring on another panic. He was probably more responsible for the last one than any other one contributing cause.

"Smith," says a contemporary, "first removed Brown from the railroad commissioner's office and now from the gubernatorial chair." Well, if you have seen Smith, or his picture, you can understand that he is something of a mover.

Dr. L. C. Howard, chief of the bureau of entomology of the Department of Agriculture, is authority for the statement made recently that there are no less than 250,000 cases of typhoid fever in the United States annually resulting in 35,000 deaths directly attributable to the presence and deadly work of the common house fly. Comment is not necessary. The thing for every person to do is to swear eternal vengeance against the fly. A neighbor who will knowingly contribute to the increase of the number of flies in his locality is a bad neighbor.

That was a great speech that Woodrow Wilson made to the American Bar Association in Chattanooga. Prof. Wilson is one of the closest and deepest thinkers of the present time and when he makes a deliverance on public questions it is eminently worthy of attention. One of the most striking paragraphs from Chattanooga speech we reproduce herewith:

Society is looking itself over, in our day, from top to bottom, is making fresh and critical analysis of its very elements, is questioning its oldest practices as freely as its newest, scrutinizing every arrangement and motive of its life, and stands ready to attempt nothing less than a radical reconstruction, which only frank and honest counsels and the forces of generous co-operation can hold back from becoming a revolution.

This is taking a more serious view of the political and other agitation now prevailing than many are disposed to take. Nevertheless the fact that it is the view of Woodrow Wilson, the great university president, author and publicist entitles it to the most thoughtful consideration of those who want to understand and appreciate the trend of present day events.

How are North Carolina Republican Congressmen viewed in other States? The Columbia State partly answers the question when it says:

While the Southern Democrats scarcely do themselves justice in their selections of Congressmen, the men they send to Washington are at least superior to those representing the Southern districts controlled by the Republicans.

It seems that the Republicans in the few districts where they have majorities would be on their mettle to choose men of the best character and talent but, so far as we recall, there is not one Southern Republican in Congress who would class better than low to middling. Fair types of them are Grant of the Tenth North Carolina and Slemp of the Ninth Virginia, good enough to browse only with the common herd and a very common herd at that. Morehead of North Carolina is a young man of inherited wealth and social position, but has given no sign of possessing other than mediocre abilities. The two or three Tennessee Republicans are no better—or perhaps very little better—than those of North Carolina and Virginia though it is a reasonable assumption that Grant and Slemp are not quite so good as the most ordinary. The chances are bright that these latter worthies will be replaced by Democrats in the next House. Their defeat would cause the Republican party the loss of two votes but nothing more. In fact, the average of Republican intelligence and respectability in the House would be distinctly raised by their elimination.

Bobbie Burns wrote truly about the desirability of the gift of seeing ourselves as others see us. It should accordingly be the source of a certain sort of mental satisfaction to North Carolina Republican Congressmen to read the editorial of the State showing how they are seen by others. We hope the State didn't omit to send them marked copies.

Didn't Wait the Attack.
At Boulogne during a royal reception some years ago a number of English ladies in their anxiety to see everything pressed with such force against the soldiers who were keeping the line that the soldiers were forced to give way and generally were, as policemen say, "hindered in the execution of their duty." The officer in command, observing the state of affairs, called out: "One roll of the drum! If they don't stand back kiss them all!" After the first sound of the drum the ladies took to flight.

"If they had been French," said a Parisian journal, "they would have remained to a woman."

A Tale of Heroism.
"I went for a bath yesterday," said an Auvergnat. "I had been in the water some time when I suddenly perceived an enormous shark advancing toward me with its jaws open. What was I to do? When he was a yard off I dived, took out my pocketknife and ripped up the monster."

"What? Then you are in the habit of bathing with your clothes on?" said one of the listeners.—From the French.

Perplexing.
Territorial (his first experience as sentry, going over his instructions)—if any one comes along I say: "Halt! Who goes there?" Then he says, "Friend," and I say, "Pass, friend; all's well." But some silly ass'll say, "Enemy," and then I shan't know what to do. Rotten job, I call it.—Punch.

Indignant.
The mayor of a small town had come to Leipzig to see the fair. A stranger who had lost his way asked him, "Pray, good honest man, what is the name of this street?"

"I am not a good honest man," said the former; "I am the mayor of Marburg."

"I'm no object of charity; I wouldn't accept your money in any other way."

A BIRD PARTY.

All the Latest Bird Fashions Seen At Unique Function Last Night At Y. W. C. A. Rooms.

As autumn comes again with the school days and many feathered friends are leaving us for the far South it is good news to hear that a flock of the very prettiest birds were gathered last night for two hours in the Y. W. C. A. rooms, for the ten bright little lasses of Miss Ethel Troy's nature study class wore last night the plumage of the birds they have been studying in their walks and in the books of the Public Library.

The costumes of the bird fashion plates have been carefully copied—such pretty fashions, too, not a big hat to hide the neighboring birds, not a coat suit but of the most exquisite taste.

The Cedar bird (Mary Silver) a demure little guest in gray, has only a touch of color like the bright berries of which he is said to be inordinately fond—though the library books do tell us he prefers the wild to the cultivated fruit. He is known for his grace and sociable disposition among birds.

The Baltimore Oriole (Dorothy Hood) also came to the party, a brilliant tropical looking bird in flashing orange and black which attracted the attention of Lord Baltimore on the banks of the Chesapeake; he took its colors for his own while in return the bird bears his name. The children have learned in their studies that the oriole's skill in building its swinging cradle of a home is quite as wonderful as its beautiful uniform.

Very different is the Phoebe bird (Adelaide Van Noppen), a tiny creature in dull green with an olive vest who loves the eaves of farm houses for a home and whose usefulness all writers unite to praise. It is said that the Phoebe eats no useful grain while she destroys unnumbered hurtful insects taking no toll for her busy unselfish service to the world. The bird books tell us that her name is taken from her pretty call. Our Bible students may well wonder if long ago somebody in gratitude for her toil did not christen her after the good woman of Paul's day of whom he wrote "I commend unto you our sister Phoebe."

The Kentucky Cardinal (Ella Andrews and Royce Davis) is always a welcome visitor to grow up as well as to children. We delight to see his crimson coat on gloomy days and hear his merry call which sounds so much like "What cheer! What cheer!"

The American Goldfinch (Ruby Alley and Julia Silver) is the familiar lettuce bird seen at this season in flocks and almost as beautiful as the canary in his resplendent gold and black. The children have been interested to learn that the Goldfinch builds his tiny house much later than that of any other bird and the baby Goldfinches learn to find their food just when the seeds upon which they live are ripe. The Goldfinch is a dear lover of thistles and for this good office alone we count him a friend.

The crow with its midnight plumage also came with the rest for the children had been studying about him and his part in the life on our farms. He certainly never looked half so pretty as he did last night when his part was taken by little Elizabeth Andrews.

Last of all, the Blue Jay, was there and Snodie Moore graciously wore his brave colors which he should appreciate for he is a noisy, boisterous fellow. Like his kinsman the crow for cunning but full of life and activity even Audubon condemns him for robbing other bird's nests for food and while we admire his beauty we know that he fights and scolds continually. One writer about the Jay concludes by urging us to remember that "handsome is as handsome does."

As the happy party was ending and the birds making ready to fly to their homes a delightful treat was served them of bright candy eggs in ice cream nests and strange foreign birds which had been fashioned for this purpose with a wonderful cake-cutter by Miss Troy, the teacher of the class. Under such circumstances of course the policy of the Blue Jay unanimously uniformly prevailed and the pretty feast was heartily enjoyed by the entire flock.

THE SITE EXAMINED.Masonic Committee Here Yesterday—Favorably Impressed With Offer.

The members of the committee on site, appointed to recommend the location of the Home for Aged and Indigent Masons and Wives, were in the city yesterday and inspected the site offered by local Masons and also conferred with the local committee regarding the cash donation to accompany the site.

While, of course, the members of the committee would not talk when asked which of the sites visited they preferred, yet they expressed themselves as well pleased with the offer of the local Masons and they seemed to have been favorably impressed with the site offered.

The committee went to High Point yesterday afternoon and inspected the site offered by the Masons of that city. All the cities bidding for the site have been visited except Southern Pines and the committee will likely go there today.

Members of the local committee appeared well pleased with the result of the inspection yesterday and are confident that Greensboro will get the institution. Greensboro's accessibility and central location will have no small bearing on the decision of the committee, it is thought and in addition her offer is almost, if not quite as tempting as that of any other city.

The members of the committee on site are: Grand Master R. N. Hackett, of Hertfordshire; Dr. F. N. Winchester, of Charlotte; Capt. W. H. McLaurin, of Laurinburg, and Mr. L. M. Clymer, of Greensboro.

MRS. J. R. OZMENT DEAD.Passed Away At Home In Country Yesterday Morning—Funeral Today.

Mrs. J. R. Ozment died yesterday morning at her home near the Battle Ground following a short illness. She is survived by her husband, two sons, Messrs. James and G. C. Ozment, and a daughter, Mrs. Lillie Webb.

The funeral will be held from the late residence today at 12 o'clock, conducted by Rev. J. W. Goodman. The interment will follow at Mt. Pisgah church.

NOTICE TO ARCHITECTS.

Plans and specifications for the erection of a Central City Public School building in the City of Greensboro to cost $25,000, exclusive of heat, are hereby invited. Architects are given until Sept. 15, 1910, to submit sketches of proposed plans.

W. C. JACKSON,
3rd Secretary Board of Education.

Mrs. N. C. Weatherly Will Do a Strictly Cash Business.

After September 15, Mrs. Weatherly will discontinue the credit business and sell strictly for cash on delivery. This step will be of mutual benefit, for it is evident, that if no money is put out for stationery, postage, collectors per cent and no lost accounts, she can sell goods much less than any house running on the credit system. Her goods will be marked for cash and sold for cash only. Mrs. Weatherly wishes to take the opportunity to thank the ladies for their liberal patronage and solicit a continuation of the same under the new cash system.

Examinations At A. & M. College.

Examinations will be held today at the A. & M. College for entrance and for the removal of conditions in the following subjects: English, drawing, market gardening, materials of construction, bookkeeping, heating and ventilation, geology, dairying and chemistry. Registration for all students will be on September 5 and instructions in all departments will begin on Sept. 6. A large number of new students are already on the grounds and the prospects for a large attendance were never better.

The Case Settled.

Scott Britton, the aged white man brought here from High Point and placed in jail on Tuesday, was released from custody yesterday. Britton was tried in High Point for abandonment and a fine and costs imposed. He appealed and in lieu of a $100 bond was placed in jail to await a trial in Superior Court. Yesterday his sons made arrangements to pay the fine and costs and the appeal was stricken off the docket. Britton was then released and he returned to High Point on the noon train.

Meet In New Class Room.

The Ireland Bible Class will meet for the first time in the new class room in the Sunday school annex of West Market Street Methodist church. Invitations announcing this fact are being sent out and an extra large attendance is looked for. The class has a membership of 95.

To Speak At Gibsonville.

On next Saturday, Sept. 10, Maj. C. M. Stedman, Democratic nominee for Congress, will speak at Gibsonville. The Democrats of the village are arranging to make the occasion a gala one. The speaking will begin at 4:30 in the afternoon.

POLYGAMY CAUSE DEAD, SAYS MORMON RULER.

His People Obey Court, But May Consider They Were Right, Says Joseph Smith.

New York World.

Polygamy will cease to be associated with Mormonism only as soon as the world outside of the Mormon Church lets it, says Joseph Smith, the aged successor of Brigham Young and nephew of the first "Prophet." It's the people of other sects that keep the idea going, not the Mormons, he says.

President Smith was in New York yesterday as the guest of Elder B. E. Rich at the Eastern States Mission, No. 33 West One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street, headquarters for Mormon missionary work in twelve Eastern States. He had come from a tour of Europe, where he went to seek relief from rheumatism. He left for his home in Utah Monday afternoon in a private car.

Seventy-two years old, he is as strong of build as a man of twenty; but there is no aggressiveness in move or manner, only the alertness of a man who has long been accustomed to leading.

"The Mormons are much in the same position as the South," he said. "A question of difference came up and it had to be settled. The South took to cannon and musketry. We took to the Supreme Court. When the decision was made against us we did just as the South obeyed, and will obey. But, like the Southerners, we may still consider that our cause was just.

"Our religion is probably the most talked of and the most misunderstood of any in the world. When we practiced polygamy it was very much less extensive than that which prevailed in the rest of the country. Three percent of our people had plural wives on the patriarchal plan, while seventy-five percent of the outsiders had plural wives on the European plan.

"Mormons have always looked to the good of their children. There is no youth in the world that has better advantages of education than our youth. There is no part of the world where they do not go. And there is every inducement to have them learn two or three or even more languages. That applies to girls as well as boys.

"Mormonism is founded absolutely on the teaching of Christ. We believe in universal salvation. No one, according to our belief, is lost. The child that is born to lack of opportunity is not condemned after death. He enters that grade of heaven where he can progress to those higher. And it's the same way with the sinner. He enters heaven in a certain grade till he has atoned for his faults, and then he progresses to higher planes."

President Smith remained quietly at the mission while in the city. He says he benefited much from his trip, but still suffers from sciatica.

Don't Break Down.

Severe strains on the vital organs, like strains on machinery, cause breakdowns. You can't over-tax stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels or nerves without serious danger to yourself. If you are weak or run-down, or under strain of any kind, take Electric Bitters the matchless, tonic medicine. Mrs. J. E. Van de Sande, of Kirkland, Ill., writes: "That I did not break down, while enduring a most severe strain, for three months, is due wholly to Electric Bitters." Use them and enjoy health and strength. Satisfaction positively guaranteed. 50¢ at Fariss-Klutz Drug Co.

A Solomon-like Decision.

A Rhode Island justice was called upon to determine the ownership of a brood of turkeys. The flock, consisting of fifteen young ones, was mothered by two hens, a white one and a bronze, and had been running for quite a time over two adjoining farms. The owner of the white hen declared that the turkeys were his, while the man who owned the bronze hen asserted just as positively that they belonged to him. The justice was puzzled. At last a witness came forward who swore that he had seen a dog chase the flock; that at the dog's approach the young birds flew up into a tree and the bronze hen took to the woods, but the white hen turned and gave battle to the dog. The justice thereupon decided that the owner of the white hen was also the rightful owner of the brood of young turkeys.—New York Press.

GENUINE ECZEMA REMEDY

New Remedy That Cures Eczema Quickly.

Howard Gardner has sold dozens of jars of Hokara in the last few weeks, and although he offered to refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied purchaser, not one jar was returned.

While this is surprising in itself, yet the most marvelous thing is the reports of chronic cases of eczema that have been cured by this simple skin food. People who have suffered with scales, sores and even bleeding itching have found relief in Hokara.

No matter where the eczema, pimples or other breaking out occurs, whether on the face, hands, legs or body, the application of Hokara will give quick relief, and even the worst or most chronic cases will be cured in a short time.

You can buy a liberal-sized jar today at the very low price of 25¢ and with every package goes a guarantee to refund the money if it is not satisfactory. Larger size 50¢.

If the skin trouble is caused by impure blood or if the bowels are inactive, use Hokara Blood Tablets. They cool and cleanse the blood and regulate the bowels in a natural way.

THE DRESSING CASE PROBLEM.

WOMEN NATION HONORS.

How One Man Has Solved it to His Wife's Satisfaction.

Deleator.

I must tell all my brothers how my wife and I have solved the problem which so bothers those who dwell where there is but little closet room. With one dressing case between us, there was not room for all our things; as to the closets, they were crammed full, and even under the bed there were many hat boxes. So I purchased another dressing case with my tobacco coupons, getting a very pretty one for 1,000,500 coupons.

I then took all my clothes, which had been crowding my wife's in her dressing case, and arranged them in my own. In the top drawer I put my handkerchiefs, collars and ties, and all those other little articles of finery which every man loves so much. In the second drawer I placed my shirts and undershirts, and devoted the lower drawer to my trousers, neatly folded, and my hose. My wife was delighted, as it gave her her own dresser all to herself, and relieved the closet somewhat.

But in a day or so the new plan proved to have a few defects, so, at my wife's suggestion, I emptied one of the upper drawers in my dresser, putting its contents into the other, and allowed my wife to use the now vacant receptacle for a few of her jabots, scarfs, etc.

The second day it was decided that my shirts and trousers could occupy the same drawer, the lowest one; so this was fixed, and into the second drawer my wife moved a few of her petticoats, and such things.

Soon, finding that I was still using too much space, I permitted her to put my collars and such effects into the lowest drawer with my trousers, etc., thus giving her both of the upper drawers and the next, and still leaving me plenty of room in the one bottom drawer.

Since then, however, I have found that I do not require so much space for my few things, so have taken them out of the bottom drawer and packed them into a hatbox, which I keep under the bed, thereby giving my wife all the drawers in my dressing case. I find the present arrangement very satisfactory, as all I have to do now is to empty the hatbox on the bed when I want anything in it, and then, when I have made my selection, sweep the other articles back into place.

In this way I have solved the dressing-case problem, and everything is quite pleasant in our home.

Two Short Words.

"The best well describes the satisfaction every user feels when he tries Vick's Croup and Pneumonia Salve for his head or chest, cold on his croupy child. It is a comfort, a cure and a joy. Try a jar and get your money back if not pleased."

Mantle of War Nursing Has Fallen on Shoulders of Dr. McGee.

New York Herald.

Separated by leagues of sea, two widely distant continents gave birth within a year to two women whose lives were to be singularly consecrated to the same cause, each to gain undying fame and to make her name a household word.

These two women were Florence Nightingale, so recently gone to her reward and Clara Barton, who is spending her declining years in her quiet country home on the banks of the Potomac at Glen Echo, Md.

Worthy of a prominent place in the same category and looked upon by many as the one upon whose shoulders properly falls the mantle of war nursing now fallen from Miss Barton is Dr. Anita Newcomb McGee, daughter of the late Simon Newcomb, famous in astronomy and many other fields of learning. Following in the footsteps of her father as a scholar, Dr. McGee, after acquiring a high medical education, made a specialty of scientific nursing, and in 1898 was appointed by the Government to select all the war nurses for the Spanish-American conflict. Later she was regularly made a member of the medical staff of the army, being the first woman to be named for such a position.

During the Russo-Japanese war she offered to supply and conduct a band of nurses for Japan, which offer was gladly accepted by the Mikado, and she began her work there in 1904. Later she was appointed by the Japanese Government as supervisor of all Japan's nurses, which placed her on an equal footing with the army officers of that nation.

Your kidney trouble may be of long standing, it may be either acute or chronic, but whatever it is Foley's Kidney Remedy will aid you to get rid of it quickly and restore your natural health and vigor. "One bottle of Foley's Kidney Remedy made me well," said J. Sibbitt, of Grand View, Wis. Commence taking it now." Holton Drug Co.

The Gentle Art.
In her trim little bathing suit she sat on the white sand.

"I adore intelligence!" she cried.
"So do I," said he. "All the same, though, beauty and intellect never go together."

"And do you think me intellectual?" she faltered.

"No," he confessed, frankly.
With a faint blush she murmured, "Flatterer!"—Los Angeles Examiner.

Mrs. Jacob Wilmert, Lincoln, Ill., found her way back to perfect health. She writes: "I suffered with kidney trouble and backache and my appetite was very poor at times. A few weeks ago I got Foley's Kidney Pills and gave them a fair trial. They gave me great relief, so continued till now I am again in perfect health." Holton Drug Co.

To the Merchants of the South

LESS than ten years ago we started the first modern method shoe factory in the South.

This year we will manufacture more shoes than any of our competitors in such old and well-known markets as New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore, although some of these manufacturers have been doing a successful business for thirty or forty years.

We have demonstrated that we can manufacture a shoe which will wear longer than other shoes, and will look well as long as it lasts. We have demonstrated that our workmanship is superior to the workmanship in the factories of the West, and that it equals the workmanship put on shoes of the same price made anywhere on earth.

We are selling more shoes in the South than any of our competitors. We are the only manufacturers outside of New England who have ever been able to sell their product successfully in the large Eastern cities, such as Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York and Boston. Our values justify our selling our product anywhere. We prefer selling the output of our factories in the South, as this is our legitimate territory. If you are not buying your shoes from us, write us at once, and we will notify our salesman to call to see you with his spring samples.

More than fifty salesmen leave Lynchburg the first week in September with our line of samples, including a complete line of Oxfords, Sailor Ties, Pumps, and all of the latest novelties in spring footwear. These men cover the South thoroughly and if you wish to handle our line next season, write us at once; otherwise they might place the line with your competitor.

Watch the newspapers. All of the leading daily and evening papers of the South are carrying our advertisements. Millions of Southern people read these advertisements every day. Thousands of people are wearing Craddock shoes that did not wear them yesterday. To-morrow thousands of people will know of Craddock shoes that haven't heard of them to-day.

If you want to sell the best selling line of shoes manufactured in this country; if you wish to buy from the largest Southern manufacturer; if you wish to sell shoes which actually wear longer than other shoes at the same prices, and if you wish to buy the most widely advertised line, the line which is being talked about and being called for, write or wire us to-day.

"It Looks Just Like NEW"

This was the expression of a lady when she called to get a brooch that she had left here for a new pin.

The brooch was polished and refinished.

The new pin was properly fitted and, as she said, it was really new again, and the charge was 15 cents.

How many old pieces of old jewelry have you got lying around that a few cents would make as good as new and put into service again?

Collect some of this old jewelry and bring it down and get an estimate on the cost of fully repairing.

Our work is above comparison, our service prompt and our charges reasonable.
